Academic Presentation Skills

Atlantic Language | Dublin | Ireland

Objectives

The purpose of the Erasmus Plus STT week on Academic Presentation Skills in Ireland is to foster the advancement of English skills for academic purposes among participants. This course will allow participants to develop strategies for presentation and discussion of academic concepts, while improving their word choice, pronunciation, and communication skills. Participants will also work on sentence construction as well as elements of syntax and grammar.

Programme

The course will run for 5 days (25h) and will also include the option to participate in cultural immersion activities (paid separately) including Irish Cultural Night and a visit to the Guinness Storehouse – the worldfamous 250-year-old former brewery.

Participants

Participants for the seminar workshops should have an English language skill level of CEFR from A2 to B1, and be willing to improve their academic English skills. PhD holders, PhD candidates and other academic staff and team members who want to improve their presentation technique, classroom delivery and/or general communicative competence in English are welcome to participate.

STT Week Academic Presentation Skills

Seminar Workshop Programme

Atlantic Language's Academic Presentation Skills has been developed with the needs of educators and researchers whose English language skills still need improvement in mind. The course focuses primarily on the challenge of presenting academically complex ideas and processes in language that is readily spoken and comprehensible. The individual modules help participants to build competence and crucially also confidence as speakers.

Delivered over 25 workshop hours, the Seminar Programme supplemented by one-to-one support where required. The content of seminar modules may vary according to participants' needs.
